FEBRUARY 2017 HIGHLIGHTS

Are We Alone?

From Monday 6 February at 20:10

The eternal quandary facing human kind - is there intelligent life beyond the stars? What would the alien life-forms look like if we found them? Some of the world's leading astrophysicists, astrobiologists, science-fiction writers and other experts help unravel the potential scientific, cultural and psychological impacts of such a world-changing event. Alien Encounters offers up the answers to these questions with dramatic reconstructions and expert opinion examining how humans would respond to a sudden alien encounter.

NASA's Unexplained Files

From Monday 13 February at 18:30

In this fascinating documentary series we unlock the archives of the world's top space agency to reveal the truly extraordinary mysteries of the universe. Each episode offers first hand testimony from astronauts, NASA mission footage, plus beautifully rendered CGI to bring to life these voyages revealing unexplained sightings that have dogged many of NASA's most famous missions. We learn about the hints about alien technology that fascinated astronomers and astronauts on an approach to the Moon. Plus, does a startling image taken by a NASA probe indicate that life could exist on Mars?
